at hopes and expectations, as is typical of the world today, it may not be easy, it is up to us to preserve the privileges and rights which we now enjoy from being destroyed.

In the molder of youth and youth is the determining factor, it is only natural that we are indebted to the world for us how to think freely and speak openly with knowledge and information with which to achieve success each in his own manner.

Our school life have helped prepare us to face the hardships which are sure to be encountered in the future. We hope that our minds and characters have been trained when an emergency arises it can be met with understanding.

What may hold in store for us, our school days and the hardships on our lives will not easily be forgotten. In whatever walk of life we will be found as time goes by, the trying days of the present will be conquered by the perseverance of the American citizens—the

Now that their school days are over the seniors of 1941 turn their eyes to the future. But in the memories of these former "book learners" will linger a fond or otherwise remembrance of the many hours spent in the halls of learning trying to secure an education in the easiest possible way. For example, how can one forget the hard work and intense concentration it took the average student to dodge daily assignments and to miss tests, only to be rewarded by fatal symbols of various degrees and colors issued on a small yellow card the first Tuesday after the first Monday of every quarter. This was, perhaps, the most tragic side of school life except book reports, and the fact that it was necessary to awake from a deep slumber by 8:23 in order to arrive at school before the tardy bell rang at 8:30.

"Mountie red gets its man," will be remembered as the slogan that probably inspired the wearing of so much red in those early forties. Corduroy skirts, that beat all previous records for shortness, kneesocks, saddle shoes, and long sleeved-blouses held sway in the wardrobe of every fashionable school girl. The masculine attire consisted mainly of bright, plaid shirts, tweed pants, and flashy socks. Rarely was a tie to be found except on important occasions, such as Senior pictures when every boy was decked out in his Sunday best.

These same Seniors will fondly remember trying moments in their class room life, such as hurrying to put

Seniors

Up From Freshmanhood

On a warm September morning in 1937 a class of green freshmen were indentured for careers in the broad acres of Whiting High School. Their first task was the election of class officers. Paul Hric was chosen as president; William Parsanko, vice-president; Charles McCarthy, secretary and Beverly Eidson, treasurer. Diversion was had in the form of the Apple Jam and the Freshmen Prom.

As Sophomores, we moved into new quarters—the Senior High School. We elected Donald Parker as class president; Charles Sanders, vice-president; Florence Gima, secretary and Lorraine Kaminsky, treasurer. Miss Laura Linden was our choice for overseer. The main social activity was the Sophomore Party.

Bernard Poracky was elected president of the Junior Class. Joe Jancosek, vice-president; Rose Dudas, secretary and Paul Demkovich, treasurer. The big moment of the year was the Junior-Senior Prom at which we shone appropriately to the theme "Stardust." At the Junior-Senior picnic we presented a motley sort of group as we stood in line to get our ration of hotdogs.

In our last year of servitude, James Homco was voted president; Eugenia Zehme, vice-president; Michael Mihalo, secretary; and Paul Demkovich, treasurer. As a finale we strutted our stuff at the Junior-Senior Prom and approached commencement night with a feeling of sadness at saying "good by" to good old Whiting High.

We appreciate the wholesome and kindly interest shown to us by Miss Linden, the class adviser.

Franklin, but he forgot to add that next year's styles of women's clothing are the most uncertain things. It is hard to prophesy whether in the future women will be attired in ankle-length skirts with hoops, or in mannish shirts and trousers, but it is best to warn you that women's styles change faster than the expressions on a hypocrite's face. Now that silk is being made from coal, a frequent of mothers will probably be, "If you are cold, dearie, put on a little more coal."

But let us see what some of these graduates will be doing in the next few years. As these are troubled times most likely a large portion of the boys will be gone with the draft. It is to be expected that the old maids—commonly referred to as career women—will not be pleased with this, but perhaps the boys will prefer this as they would rather battle with guns than with rolling pins.

By then the future Florence Nightingales of the class will have discovered, after extensive research, that there are three kinds of nurses — those that work for the patient, those that work the patient and those that don't work.

Then the little wife, formerly of Brown's bargain basement, may be found that resolve not to have more than three children because she read in a world almanac that every fourth child born is a Chinaman.

Also among the ranks of these graduated seniors are the future doctors, law makers, teachers, laborers, secretaries, housewives and dogcatchers of our nation. The youth of today are the citizens of tomorrow, and in later years we are sure that there will be many of these graduates to whom we will point with pride and say, "I knew him when he went to Whiting High."

Gay and Gifted Galli Curci's

Enchanting as nightingales and as gay as skylarks are these feminine songbirds. Cheerily they warble at many a school assembly, and a discordant note seldom invades the beautiful harmony of this bird-voiced clan.

The "ready, willing, and able" quality of these girls when called upon to arrange a program, even at a moment's notice, is known and appreciated.

Mr. Calder is the director of the group, and it is with pride that he presents the girls at numerous programs throughout the year.

Bassos, Baritones and Balladers

Nelson Eddy, Richard Crooks, or even Donald Duck cannot boast of having been members of the Boys' Glee Club—the club which produces so many talented baritones and tenors.

This illustrious group, under the direction of the noteworthy Mr. George Calder, makes possible many enjoyable assemblies throughout the year and adds the finishing touch to all programs in which it participates.

The club is composed of boys from the second and third period chorus classes.

Monitors Moderate Meandering

Monitors—1.) those who admonish or warn (Webster).

- 2.) boys or girls who sit around in the corridors by whom one can stop and have a little gabfest; one who promises to catch you on the second bounce as you're entering a classroom where your fate is pending. (Encyclopedia Oilcanna.)
- 3.) cheerful and courteous scholars who maintain order in the corridors and conduct visitors about the building. May be found any period of the day at one of the main entrances. (Most commonly accepted and preferred.)

The above defined word is the name applied to an organization sponsored and supervised by Miss Shea. The group lives up to any of the given definitions you may prefer.

Precautious Patrol of Pedestrians

If you're craving excitement, boys, enlist in the adventuresome corps of these heroes of the highway—the Patrol Boys. Theirs is the life that is always on the go—regulating traffic at street crossings. Adding to the gallantry of the work is the most appealing phase, standing in the rain or when it's zero weather.

Being always on the alert, his life is filled with such thrilling duties as: 1.) making the way clear for the tardy express as it's puffing 'round the bend at 8:28 in the morning, 2.) quietly escorting dazed and dreamy lovesick girls and boys across the street, and 3.) courageously retrieving hats that are blown off professors' heads.

Mr. O. M. Merriman is the praiseworthy sponsor of this group and the officers for the year were: Dan Celenica, captain; Frank Palikan and John Kraly, lieutenants.

Company of Klattering Keglers

The organization of the Keglers' Klub was received enthusiastically by both beginners and those who wished to improve their game with regular competition. With the members participating in various intra-club tournaments, the initial year of the Keglers' Klub proved highly successful being sponsored by Mr. B. J. Vesely.

Boys who bowled averages above 150 were Paul Hegedus, 175; Ben Cerven, 166; Joe Sakal, 166; Andy Yuhas, 156, and John Hegedus, 163.

Whiting's Winning Wonders

Supermen of the school are the members of the "W" Club—supermen because theirs is a record of astounding feats on the gridiron or hardwood after long and weary hours of practice. These and the occasional losses (which must be attributed to a deficiency in the Wheatie supply) are represented by the "W" awards which are given to the school athletes qualifying them for membership in the club.

They're heroes in the eyes of the fair, wonders in the eyes of fellers, and ??? in the eyes of their coaches.

Coach Gallivan is the sponsor of the club, and the officers for the year were: Leo Jacko, president; Al Resetar, secretary, and John Stribiak, treasurer.

Red Peppers Rouse and Root

Pepl with a capital "P" is the word that best describes this rarin' to go group sponsored by Miss Ane Marie Petersen. After all, what, besides a modern swing band, is hotter than a red pepper?

As the most important Freshmen Club, it is composed of enthusiastic members selected by the faculty for their school spirit, intelligence and promise of future leadership.

To further the aim of this organization, which is to encourage students to participate more fully in school activities, the "peppers" annually hold a school dance besides other social affairs such as initiation and skating parties.

Officers are Arthur Demeter, president; Lou Ann Madden, vice-president; Elsie Hayes, secretary, and Raymond Brozovic, treasurer.

Ornamented with Honor

The National Honor Society is just another way of calling this group the cream of the crop and as applied to these students it means that they are the "A" grade product for four years of conscientious effort.

Members are picked by the vote of the faculty on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character and service.

Under the sponsorship of Mr. Joseph McAdam, this group is now an efficiently functioning organization.

ROW I: B. Poracky, E. Drabik, A. Progar, P. Demkovich.

Elected as officers for the year were: Bernard Poracky, president; Elizabeth Drabik, vice-president; Albina Progar, secretary, and Paul Demkovich, treasurer.

Sages in Search of Scholarship "W"s

More commonly known as the "Honor roll," the Scholarship "W" Club is the most strived for organization, and it is with great concern that pupils scan the school paper to see whether they made the grade.

Qualification for membership in the club is to maintain an average of at least a "B," and no grade lower than a "C" throughout the year.

For each year of membership in the organization, a circular emblem is awarded, the design varying on each. For four years the pupils are awarded a gold "W" on their diplomas.

Of the Students, by the Students, etc.

The (in)alienable rights of chewing gum at dances and throwing snowballs have been taken away from us as a result of policies set down by the Student Council. There is little objection to the rules, however, because the council represents the entire student body, and in it is vested the right to make such rules as pertain to the care of school property and social gatherings.

Consisting of class presidents and representatives from home rooms, the group meets with principal, Mr. L. C. Grubb, to discuss problems for the betterment of school life of students.

William Obermiller was elected president; George Kochis, vice-president; Marilu Slaten, secretary, and John Jacobs, treasurer.

Campus (Clicks)

It's when one is giving out with a daily morning yawn or talking to her secret beau that she hears a faint click. Upon investigation, it's found that a member of the Camera Club has been the source of the startling sound.

With Mr. Vesely as instructor the members of the club learn how to develop the film and perhaps enlarge it. Thus the members gain much pleasure as well as benefits from the Camera Club.

At the meetings of the group, the members discuss camera problems and ways on how to take better pictures. Officers were: George Harangody, president; Frank Furtak, vice-president, and Agnes Dijak, secretary-treasurer.

Biologists Battle Bacilli

Anyone can tell the difference between the trunk of a tree and that of an elephant, but it takes a member of the Biology Club to read between the rings of a cross section from a Fagus ferruginea, commonly known as a Beech tree.

Members of this group have a choice of belonging to any of several different guilds into which the club is divided. Those interested in microscopic work may study a great many things at close range, such as a cracker which they discover is not all it's cracked up to be, while others take field trips and correspond with amateur biologist from other schools.

Martha Kacer leads the club as the president; Mary Mantich, vice-president; Sophie O'Drobinak, secretary, and Bob Demeter, treasurer. Miss Emily Whitton acts as sponsor.

Silent Seeking Scientists

Just imagine what life would be like without electric lights, automobiles, lipstick, radios, the law of gravity, and other scientific achievements. The purpose of this club is, not only to gain more knowledge, but also to further interest in new ideas.

At a meeting of these present physics and chemistry students may be found the Edisons, Einsteins, and Frankensteins of the future. Discussions and reports dealing with interesting phases of science are presented by the program committees with the aid of Mr. Leo Applegarth, the sponsor.

Serving as officers this year were president, Adrian Stone; vice-president, Wallace Moore, and secretary-treasurer, Paul A. Demkovich.

Thrillingly They Trill

"Practice Makes Perfect" may not be the theme of these nine enchanting nightingales, but it could well be for many hours are spent in perfecting their already 99 per cent pure voices. Under the capable direction of Mr. Calder, and accompanied on the piano by Dolores Lynch, these singing lassies thrill all within throwing distance. They are divided into three groups: first sopranos, Lou Ann Madden, Janice Campbell, and Mary Clare Driscoll; second sopranos, Louise Baloff, Verda McTague, Rita Julier; altos, Nina Shocaroff, Rose Dudas, and Elsie Shocaroff.

This organization is composed of the "tops" in musical talent and is one of the most active throughout the school. The Triple Trio has appeared on several radio broadcasts and in programs for local clubs. Christmas carolling is also featured—around the school Christmas tree and for Hammond merchants.

Flawless Fiddlers-Flatless Flutists

Music hath charms and at a meeting of the Philharmonia will be found students from the four corners of the school that have fallen under its spell.

Although membership is composed mainly of musicians from the band or orchestra, anyone interested in the cultural side of music may become a member.

At the meetings, under the direction of Mr. Lesinsky, the group becomes familiar with famous composers and their works, through musical quizzes and other types of entertaining works.

Activities outside of the regular meetings include annually an initiation party, and a trip to Chicago to attend an opera, or some form of cultural music program.

Presiding officers for the year were Louise Baloff, president; Marilyn Moore and John Hegedus, vice presidents, and Eileen Girman, secretary-treasurer.

Enriched with Engineering Ingenuity

"Business before pleasure" is the motto of many people, but in the Engineering Club business and pleasure are combined to a good advantage for the meetings are not only entertaining but educational as well.

Here, under the capable supervision of Mr. W. P. Buerckholtz, the boys learn the fundamentals of engineering from programs dealing with many phases of this subject.

As yet none of these boys have built any great bridges or famous buildings, but who knows, some day they may be the engineers of constructions greater than the Empire State—at least a rinkydink club house.

Latin Linguists Laud and Lament

Little known facts of the ancient Latins are exposed at the meetings of the Latin Club. For instance, it was learned that "I'll be glad when you're dead, you rascal you," was originally muttered at the memorable death of Caesar.

Latin takes on a light air with such delightful features as are presented at the bi-monthly meetings—recitations, talks, playlets, games, and songs.

The club consists of two periods of Latin II students, and is sponsored by Miss Meta Wilhelm. Presiding officers for the fourth period class were Charles McClelland, Annette Sherman, consuls, and Mary Papesh, quaestor. In the seventh period class, Steve Kovach and Elizabeth Vrabely served as consuls, Charles Lanigan, quaestor.

Fringed with French Formality

Frenchmen needn't worry as long as there still remains a French Club in Whiting High. This group of French linguists will preserve what there is left of French—at least they can't do any more harm than has been done.

Through the club, they become acquainted with French forms and customs and try their turn at singing French ditties and it is here they acquire that certain accent which we dare call French. Stories about France as told by Miss Linden, the sponsor of the club, are enjoyed by the members.

Elected as officers for the year were Shirley Pollock, president; Ann Kasper, vice-president; Mildred Johnson, secretary, and Helen Marko, treasurer.

Ardent Advocates of Art

The swish of paint brushes across canvas, and the grit of charcoal against paper, mingled with the continuous chatter of these future artists, may be described as a "noise" picture as work on a new project is begun.

Craft meetings, where talented members develop their artistic abilities and temperaments, are among the various types of cultural and entertaining club gatherings.

Groomed in Glamour, Grace and Gallahads

Orchids to a club which has proven so enjoyable and popular since its organization only a year ago. Another orchid to Miss Canine, the sponsor of the club through whose helpful guidance it has been a source of recreation and counsel to the large number of girls enrolled in the club.

Discussion at the meetings run all the way from boys in need of shaves to table manners. Social etiquette learned at the meetings is practiced at parties and dances given by the group during the year. Those for this year being a Christmas party, a dance, "The Feminine Frolic," a Mothers' tea, and an Easter party at which girls from George Rogers Clark were guests.

The club began its successful year with Albina Progar, as president; Dolores Lynch, vice president; Bernice Broderick, secretary, and Ann Odilivak, treasurer. Fems with Finesse

Do you want to become more popular and make a larger number of friends? If you do and happen to be a lucky Freshman girl this can be easily accomplished by becoming a member of the Freshman Girls' Club in which these "bonnie Lassies" learn how to mind the P's and Q's of social etiquette.

As the original Girls' Club of Whiting High they proudly make their first appearance in the Reflector. At meetings, which are held every other Friday at period one, not only interesting but helpful programs in the form of plays or other kinds of entertainment are presented. A Question Box, in which are questions pertaining to problems vital to the social success of any girl, is a feature of every meeting.

Officers for the first semester were: Marjorie Eidson, president; Betty Sharpe, vice-president; Elsie Hayes, secretary-treasurer. In the second semester, Lucille Urbanik was president; Patsy McCarthy, vice-president; Helen Buksar, secretary, and Mary Fekete, treasurer. Miss Ane Petersen and Miss Matson are the advisers.

Tells Timely Tales

Every two weeks, the Tattler, a four-page newspaper, is rolled off the press crammed with news of clubs, dances, sports, plays, and pupils themselves. Occasionally an extra is published and for Christmas a five-page edition is issued to the delight of its many readers.

This year the titles of the various columns were changed to such war terms as Espionage, Propaganda, and Camouflage, the Tattler being the only name remaining undamaged after the revolution.

The paper is prepared by the girls of the Journalism class (oh yes, and one boy) under the supervision of Mr. Borden Purcell and the boys in the print shop supervised by Mr. B. J. Vesely.

Record of Rule-Day Reminiscences

Girls pestering students to bring 25 cents for some cause or other, and more girls dressed as if Laurence Olivier were in school all have their explanation now—the Reflector was in the process of making.

Choosing as the theme "Youth looks to the future," the staff has portrayed the high school pupils' expectations as compared to events in his school life of 1941.

The staff, likewise, has looked to the future all year long and wonders whether the Reflector has served its purpose as a book to be enjoyed and remembered by all.

Girls Gloried in Games

A new teacher, new activities, but the same old gym, is what greeted the members of G. A. C. when they came to school in the fall.

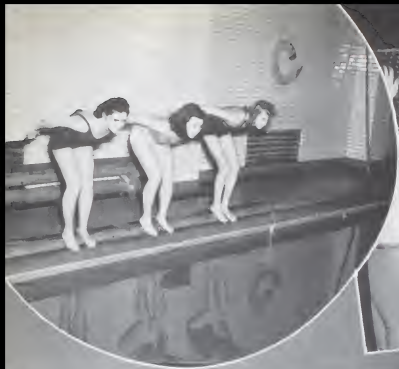

Girls participating in the G. A. C. are not out to become future leaders in the world of sports, but, because it does promote ideals of wholesome living along with providing healthful recreation, they want to belong to this club.

To wear a "W" on their sweater, and emblem, or a pin is what urges these girls on. Every season that is completed allows a girl to have 100 points which entitles her to an emblem; 500 points qualify her for a pin, 1,300 for a "W" and 2,500 for a cup. This system was introduced this year by Miss Alice Jenkins, the new gym instructor and G. A. C. sponsor.

Not only do the sports interest them but, like all other girls, the social side of the club is inviting. They started the season with a dance, "The Touchdown Swing," which was a big success, and later a tea and banquet were held. Because the club is so popular, three invitations were held to accommodate the large number of members.

The club has functioned well under the leadership of capable officers. Mary Chovan was president; Katherine Kovachic, vice-president; Janece Campbell, secretary-treasurer, and Marilyn Dunsing as social chairman.

The club has under its scope almost every form of athletics for girls. A manager is in charge of each sport: Charlotte Hansen, bowling; Helen Bodie, soccer; Margaret Hanchar, outdoor recreation (bicycle, hiking, tennis, roller skating, horseback riding, and ice skating). Evelyn Hussey, basketball; Dolores Gorman, volleyball; Meta Shreve, indoor recreation (table tennis, badminton, deck tennis, shuffle board, and swimming); baseball.

Their Thrill-The Theatre

What goes on behind the scenes is known and done by this ambitious group called the Theatre Board which does every form of handiwork behind the stage making stage settings for plays and for the assemblies.

A new system has been established by which the department was divided into four groups: Technicians, Thespians, Artists, Budgiteers, and Entertainers. Students may register in one or more departments but are free to help in any other department.

Possibly in the future these students will be technicians of the great plays which will be produced on Broadway in the years to come.

The group meets on Fridays twice a month. They are under the direction of Mr. K. W. Turner.

Officers for the year were: Delano Kuhn, president; Bob Eschenbach, vice-president; Eleanor Kaminsky, business manager; James Vogel, secretary.

Christmas Assembly

Shrubbery Hill

The disappearance of the emeralds had everyone guessing, even the audience, when "Shrubbery Hill" was presented by an All-School cast. It proved to be an entertaining play with mystery surrounding it, humor enveloping it.

Joshua took people by storm with his many quotations from the Bible. Mammy frightened everyone when asked questions about the missing emeralds. . . . And the scenes between Marjorie Snapp and Jimmy Ritter will never be forgotten!

Costume Play Festival

Scores of handsome Hamlets, myriads of beautiful Juliets and miles of brilliant costumes made their dazzling appearance at the First Annual Costume Play Festival on May 24, when the Whiting High School Drama Department played host to the high schools of the North Central States. The invitation included schools from Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Ohio, Iowa, Minnesota, Kentucky and Missouri. Directors enroute for vacations were also invited.

It was the first High School Festival to be devoted exclusively to the problems of producing classics and costumed plays.

Every school represented either by students or by a director made some kind of contribution to the festival. Some schools brought plays. The plays entered were costume plays taken from classics or from the more recently written dramatizations. Part of the play session was devoted to the production of "The Imaginary Invalid" (N. P. R. C. Edition) which was performed by three different schools each school giving their interpretation of one act of the play.

Other schools brought costumes for the costume parade which were modeled at local stores. Models, posters, scrapbooks, stage and costume designs, and photographic reproductions completed the festival.

Also featured in the Festival Program was an informal Around-the-Table discussion with the publishers and other guest authorities, a luncheon for directors and publishers, demonstrations and conference of publishers, a Festival Banquet and a costume parade of period costumes.

The performance of "Zarguata" by an all school cast of Whiting High School students concluded the day's program. This was a new translation of the famous Spanish comedy.

Parade of Pigskin Passers

Three returning lettermen, Stribiak, Justak, and Sanders, and a small contingent of the prospects faced Coach Ray Gallivan as material for his 1940 squad on the first day of practice. Soon, however, under his guiding hand, this question mark team began to take shape as a dangerous contender for conference supremacy.

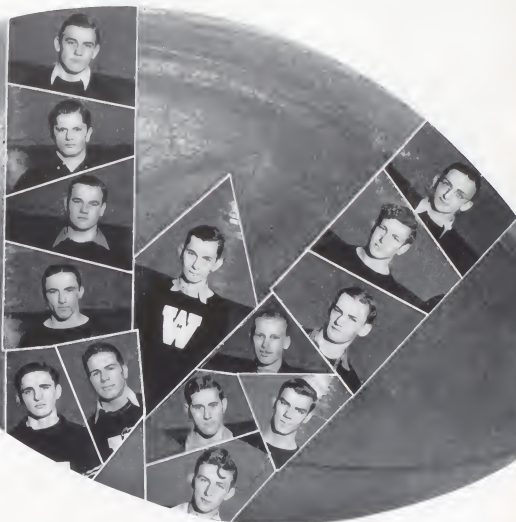

The Oiler grid machine opened their season by taking their first four games but bogged down at mid-season but nevertheless, their ability was notable even in defeat.

Peter Kovachic assumed the post of line coach following the transfer of Coach Arvo Antilla to the helm of the G. R. C. Pioneers.

Mt. Carmel, Chicago co-champs, and always a dangerous foe, fell before the Oilers in their season opener, 14 to 13. A thirty-five yard pass from Nyland to Stribiak highlighted the Whiting attack with the decisive extra point booted by Nyland.

When the dust settled over Gleason Field, Gary, the Oilers were on top of the Froebel Blue Devils, 19 to 0. Many of the team's rough spots had been ironed by this time and the green and white were beginning to hit their stride.

The Roosevelt Rough Riders next stood before the "gas house" gang, but not for long. A 31 to 0 margin definitely tamed the Riders.

A close and thrilling battle evolved from the Whiting-Emerson clash with a scoreless tie prevailing from most of the game. In the final quarter, however, the Oilers got their break when the Norse fumbled on their own four yard line. Demkovich then smashed over for the only touchdown of the game and Nyland converted giving the Oilers a 7 to 0 victory. Up to this point the Oilers were defending a goal unscored upon by a conference opponent.

Whiting's first set back of the season was handed out by the powerful team of Fort Wayne North. The Oilers traveled down state only to be taken, 25 to 6.

The Washington Senators, always bad news to Whiting, did it again, this time to the tune of 13 to 8. The green and white were held scoreless until the final period when a Senator's kick was blocked by Kalapach and resulted in a safety.

With scant minutes to go, Coach Gallivan sent in his second team which promptly dazed the invaders with a whirl-wind attack which wound up when Linko cracked over for a touchdown.

Hammond High next confronted the Oilers and despite the high predictions made in favor of the Wildcats, the Gallivan gang held them to a six to six decision. Bernie Ruman tallied for Whiting on a spectacular 100 yard intercepted pass run, "it happens only once in a lifetime."

The Lew Wallace Hornets, tied for the conference first berth with Hammond nosed out the Oilers 2 to 0, on the Whiting home field. A blocked punt in the last three minutes of the game broke up the deadlock in favor of the Hornets.

After seven straight years wearing the laurels, this has to happen, George Rogers Clark 7, Whiting 6. A deadly passing attack by the Pioneers threatened to roll over Whiting several times but the Oiler defense held,—for all but one fifteen yard touchdown pass.

Linko went over for the Oilers in the final quarter but the all important conversion was run and lost.

All-star teams, polled and sponsored by several newspapers, again this year honored many Oiler gridders.

The Gary Post-Tribune named John Stribiak, end, and Jimmy Demkovich, full back, to first string positions on their all-conference team. Don Parker, end, and Charles Sanders, tackle, were voted berths on the second squad and Klacik, Justak, Judnick, Pieters, Resetar, Kalapach, Hruskocy, Homco, and Ruman were given honorable mention.

Stribiak was also named by Heze Clark of the Indianapolis Star to first team end of that team and Charles Sanders was given honorable mention.

The football mental attitude trophy was awarded to James Homco and the most valuable player in the Whiting-Clark game was awarded to John Stribiak.

The Valparaiso Vikings visited Whiting and took home with them a decisive 53 to 48 victory.

The Christmas Holiday tournament at East Chicago gave the Oilers a chance to open up and to finish off the year in first class style. They defeated Roosevelt 40 to 23 in the first session without much trouble. In the finals, Hammond High, the second place conference "toughies," stood before the Oilers, but not for long. The Adamsmen turned on the heat and emerged victorious, 34 to 25.

The first game of the new year brought a breeze-through for the Oiler City five with an easy win over Gage Park of Chicago, 55-10.

The Froebel Blue Devils next hit the Oilers for a 42 to 28 win.

Revenge for their holiday tourney defeat was sweet for the Hammond High Wildcats and they took the Oilers, 27 to 23.

The Washington Senators continued to dog the ill-lucked Oiler Crew. This time they went under a 35 to 21 defeat.

The green and white squad traveled to Ft. Wayne but the Central high sent them home on the short end of a 39 to 28 score.

The breaking up of the half season slump came for Whiting when they defeated Valparaiso in their return game, 37 to 20.

A 43 to 20 rout of the Roosevelt Rough Riders followed next in the Oiler schedule and their steam roller attack began to cause comment in the local cage circles.

The thrill game of the season evolved from the second Hammond clash with the Oilers administering a 32 to 30 defeat to the cats. A "sleeper" basket in the final half minute of game time by Parker put the hard pressed Oilers under the wire.

The Oilers nosed out the Roosevelt Rider 37 to 36 in another last minute thriller. The Oilers trailed at the third quarter but a rally topped off by a basket by Homco tied up the game in the final minutes. The winning point was then dropped in by Homco.

Playing heads-up ball the green and white squad trounced the Emerson in the season final, 53 to 31.

In the sectional tournament, the Oilers were dropped in the first round of play by Froebel, 39 to 22. The Blue Devils then went on to take the sectional, the Gary regional, Hammond quarter-finals, but were dropped in the State semi-finals by Madison.

Twelve wins against ten defeats was the total result of the 1940-41 Oiler cage season which also included various tournament play. Outstanding display of hardwood ability for the green and white was their impressive Holiday Tourney victory which came in the midst of a string of defeats. It was there that the Oilers gave a preview of the brand of basketball which they began to turn out two weeks later when they launched their victory run with a string of eight wins out of nine, climaxing the season.

The Oilers' total scoring for the season ranked with that of the teams in first and second places throughout the year despite their standing in the conference.

Slated to return next year are Zahari, Lamigan Hruby, Stecy and Ruman.

New in the athletic department was the organization of an intramural basketball league by Coach Gallivan. The chance to play supervised ball was welcomed by many boys who did not have the ability or the time to play on school teams. Entered were sixteen teams divided into two leagues. At the close of the nine week season a tournament was conducted in each league with the winners playing off for the championship. The Java Jives won the "A" league competition and the Ramblers led the "B" league and in the final deciding game the Java Jives were victorious, 35 to 31.

Many of the season's clashes were typical of the close fighting games which are recognized as typical of the Oilers.

It will be noted that in the early season games, the Green and White squad, with somewhat of an accent on the former, were defeated by much narrower margins.

Later on in the season when they hit their stride their victories were usually by wide margins.

The final winning baskets of the first Clark game were dropped in by Bramer and Pavlo while in the tight second Hammond game Parker accounted for the deciding points. The late season Roosevelt game was iced by Homco who tied and won the tilt on a free throw and basket.

Emil Klacik was voted honorary captain of the 1940-41 basketball team and Mike Pavlo was awarded the mental attitude trophy.

At the close of the basketball season James Homco was voted by the Athletic Board to receive a white "W" sweater. This award is emblematic of the winning of six letters and being recognized worthy of the honor. The selection is based on general sportsmanship and mental attitude throughout the seasons.

Oiler cagers who will be lost to the squad through graduation are Homco, Sharp, Parker, Bramer, Pavlo, and Klacik.

Calendar

SEPTEMBER 3—650 disciples of the fine art of erudition enter upon this memorable date, the Whiting portals of learning. They arrive to gaze upon the High School edifice embellished with recent paint.

SEPTEMBER 10—Elizabeth Drabik is now the laborious task-mistress of the Reflector staff. A cute little berry by the name of Betty Garey edits the Tattler. We hope in the future you will look back with pride on this great honor.

SEPTEMBER 10—Those industrious folks, the band and orchestra parents, meet and elect new officers.

SEPTEMBER 12—After try-outs and try-outs and then some more try-outs the announcement of the cast for the all-school play, "Shrubbery Hill," was allowed to make its initial appearance.

SEPTEMBER 13—The football season makes its bow with Mt. Carmel upon the Athletic Field held dear by small boys from the sixth to the twelfth year because of wonderful opportunities to climb over the barb-wire if the patrol boy isn't looking,

SEPTEMBER 14—Tonight we "Kick-Off" and commence to jit and jive at the dance given by the Theatre Board.

SEPTEMBER 17—The senile personages assembled and then dissembled some while later with James Homco as officiating pilot for the year. We hope in the future you will look back with pride on this great honor.

SEPTEMBER 19—The conference is almost ours. Froebel drops to Oilers 19—0.

SEPTEMBER 23—The law-makers and student governing body were elected. One from each home room.

SEPTEMBER 23—Martha Kacer is the "Bugs" choice as eminent executive for the year. We hope in the future you will look back with pride on this great honor.

SEPTEMBER 24—It was decided today, in the senior meeting, who was to make us what we weren't the best way possible with the last expense. Mr. Uhle had a wide majority.

SEPTEMBER 25—Dan Celenica heads our gallant guardians of the school highways for the coming year. We hope in the future you will look back with pride on this great honor.

SEPTEMBER 26—Yippee! Roosevelt crushed by a 31—0 score.

OCTOBER 2-3-4—Cravats adorn the necks of boys, (for once.) Reflector pictures taken these days.

OCTOBER 4—A very boring game (Oh! Yeah!) The score was Whiting 7—Emerson 0.

OCTOBER 5—"T. B. or not T. B. is the question."

OCTOBER 10—Bill Obermiller on this date receives the presidency of the Student Council.

OCTOBER 10-16—National Education Week.

OCTOBER 11—The Football team travels to Fort Wayne territory; the theme song is that, which is usually intoned from an organ and clothed in black.

OCTOBER 16—Our cheer leaders get us in the mood in pep assembly.

OCTOBER 18—A score of 13 to 8 is the sad result of Washington—Whiting encounter.

OCTOBER 25—The tilt with the Hammond High resulted in a tie 6 to 6.

OCTOBER 31—"Jack O'Lantern Swing" really swung out as the first dance of the year. Approximately three hundred lads and lassies attended.

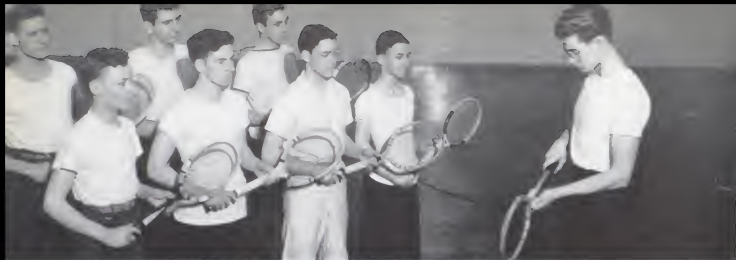

NOVEMBER 1—Whiting meets Lew Wallace. Refer to October 11.

NOVEMBER 4—"Hey, Moe!" says Joe. "Who painted so-and-so?" "I don't know, Joe," says Moe. "Let's get some dough and go to the art exhibit and find out."

NOVEMBER 6—Upon this memorial date, happened a memorial event which will certainly be remembered (at least until the bets are paid.) President Roosevelt done did it again.

NOVEMBER 8—Naturally, it isn't fun to win all the time so for the first time in seven years we condescended to Clark for a 7 to 6 defeat in football.

NOVEMBER 9—Fun with the fems at their annual "Frolic" was had by all.

Tennis

The tennis team, under Coach Orsborn, won five of their scheduled games while dropping four and finished in second place in the conference standings. Letters were won by Paul Dobbertin, Joe Cech, and Robert Christopherson. The Oiler defeat of Emerson was the only defeat handed the Gary team until the final play off when they were defeated by South Bend Central for the championship. Season results were as follows:

Pageant of Plays,

- NOVEMBER 11-16—National Book Week.
- NOVEMBER 12—Grades came out—need more be said?
- DECEMBER 1—With a big splash we formally announce the beginning of the swimming season.
- DECEMBER 6—Our spirits fall. We lost to Lew Wallace, but—
- DECEMBER 10—Our spirits rise as we smash the Pioneers, but—
- DECEMBER 13-14—Our spirits fall deeper and deeper as we succumb to Tech and Valpo. Will some one please find a corner, a soft one? We wish to curl up and expire.
- DECEMBER 17—The girls' gym was occupied on this eventful evening by the G. A. C. for their Christmas party.
- DECEMBER 18—Nothing left us with more reverent feeling than the Christmas assembly of this year. Words can't describe the splendor of the pageantry and music and spirit of holiness enveloping the program.
- DECEMBER 20—Christmas vacation begins with only four more days to do your Christmas shopping.
- DECEMBER 25—Fully five seniors made the astounding and tearful discovery that there wasn't any Santa Claus. We live and learn.
- DECEMBER 28—We won! (No time for voluminous words) and it was Hammond High in the finals of the holiday tourney.
- JANUARY 15—Football letters and sweaters began to appear in all glory after assembly today.
- JANUARY 17—Our spirits and feelings view a new awakening. Valpo curtsies to Whiting.
- JANUARY 17—The army called. H. H. Griffith leaves today for Federal Service in Regimental Staff.
- JANUARY 18—Little "greenies" will give a dance tonight. (The theme is snow men and admission 10c—if lucky 5c.)
- JANUARY 19—My birthday!!!
- JANUARY 20—It haunts me! It scares me! It's driving me crazy!!! Seniors, Pay Your Dues!!!
- JANUARY 28—Under the direction of Mr. Hinesley and Miss Zika a Jr. Red Cross chapter has been organized.
- FEBRUARY 5—Exam Week.
- FEBRUARY 6—New officers elected for coming semester in Girls' Club.
- FEBRUARY 7—Rumor that our long awaited gym is on the way.
- FEBRUARY 8—The sophomores had a grand time at their party.
- FEBRUARY 11—Abraham Lincoln was right in our midst today with the splendid portrayal by Mr. John A. Parsons.
- FEBRUARY 12-19—"W" Club initiation (what you imagine is probably what happened.)
- FEBRUARY 12—Poor Clark! They just can't seem to win.
- FEBRUARY 14—Will you bid me the honor of consenting to become my Valentine?
- FEBRUARY 18—Hollywood movie magnate tells all on the production cinemaepics.
- FEBRUARY 18—Norman Erenberg and Art Demeter received American Legion Awards. May you both in the future look back with pride on this great honor.
- FEBRUARY 19—Second assembly this week! Bowlers receive awards for high scoring.
- FEBRUARY 26—Cheers and more cheers for the best cheer leaders in the state! No one will ever forget the "La Conga" and "Indian War Chant."
- FEBRUARY 27—Well it came and it went and now we don't feel too bad for Froebel went right on to the state semi-finals—but we will admit that things were pretty dark when we lost 39-22 in the first game of the Basketball Tourney.

People and Proms

MARCH 5—Talk about talent? Some amateur hour in the assembly.

MARCH 10—The "book-worms" and "digs" at last had their day—Scholastic "W" were awarded to the deserving ones.

MARCH 19—Java Jives were the proud winners of the intramural league.

MARCH 20—Some 23 pupils have reached one of the highest points of esteem with the selection to the National Honor Society. Also I take great pleasure in announcing that Marjorie Snapp and Paul Demkovich occupy the honor seats of valedictorian and salutatorian respectively.

MARCH 25—Just the N. H. S. initiation—that's all. (Ouch!)

MARCH 28—The band and orchestra got together and swunk the notes high, wide and handsome.

APRIL 1—

APRIL 2—More sweaters and letters to swimming, tennis, and basketball stars.

APRIL 3—Our senior year is nearing completion as class night committees are chosen.

APRIL 3—Food and fun galore was had at the Athletic Banquet. Girls sure make athletic banquets more interesting, eh boys?

APRIL 4—Sometimes the boys must surely wish they were girls! The Clark girls were entertained at a Girls' Club party on this date.

APRIL 16—A big double feature was featured at the matinee this afternoon. "Come one, come all," they cried. "Just one-tenth of a dollar." (What did they think we were—plutocrats?)

APRIL 18—"Hy la Hop" given by Biology Club proved big success. You should have seen all the little froggies!

APRIL 19—Girls' Club again. This time at the conference at Horace Mann.

APRIL 19—Have you heard how the band and orchestra came out in the district contest?

APRIL 26—Red Peppers pep us up with the "Daisy Doodle."

MAY 2—The artist and models get together and paint the gym red as the Art Club gives its annual dance.

MAY 3—The State Band contest was held this year at Hartford City.

MAY 5—Tra-la-la-la. Of course one doesn't need to tell you the Choral Music Festival is in town.

MAY 10—Bring your "sloppy Joes" and "Sally Smarts" as we trip the light fantastic at the "W" Club dance.

MAY 21-22—What grandeur!!! The stars were never so brilliant as they were on these eventful nights. "Zarguata" was presented, you see.

MAY 23—All in town to celebrate the Physical Education Festival.

MAY 29—The seniors finally have that party which was going to be since December or so.

JUNE 4—Our chance to realize our life's ambition also to bring our hidden desires. What day? Why Bum's Day, of course.

JUNE 6—Mere words cannot express, cannot describe, cannot relate, what should be justly expressed, described and related about this Prom.

JUNE 9—The first of our last farewell appearances is here, Class Night. We try to be happy, to be gay but tears dim our eyes. A lump appears in many a throat—dear old Whiting, how will you endure without us, the class of 1941?

JUNE 11—It's here, Commencement, that which we have looked forward to for four long years. Would that those four years have had been a wee bit longer.

IT HAPPENED IN A GIRL'S SCHOOL

Several years ago a prominent illuminating engineer stopped to see his daughter who was a student at an eastern school for girls. He noticed the very poor lamps and lighting conditions under which the girls had to study. Realizing the terrific eyestrain caused by poor lighting, this illuminating engineer decided to do something about it.

So he went back to his office and with the assistance of several other lighting experts designed the ideal lamp for reading and study purposes. Many manufacturers now make lamps which conform to these specifications. These lamps are identified by the I.E.S. tag of approval for the Illuminating Engineering Society. Lamps that carry this tag make reading and studying easier and lessen the dangers of eyestrain.
